After several generations devoted to cultivation in vineyards, the family Martínez Verdú takes over for their parents. The family cultivates and lavishes attention on the vine with traditional methods, regulating the production in the vineyards with gobelet pruning, hand picked grape harvesting and a total respect for the natural environment of the valley, due to ecological practices in the vineyards, and using new technological innovations while at the same time remaining faithful to the autochthonous variety: Monastrell. The lands are located in the Northeast of Jumilla characterized by its calcareous, sandy and stony soil, which doesn't favour the propagation of phylloxera. This allows to grow the sort of vines called "pie franco" (European root).

It was in 2006, in the vineyards which cover an area of 200 ha, that was founded VINEDOS Y BODEGAS XENYSEL, a family-run winery,

Tasting Notes
